About GayDayS, Inc

GayDays began in 1991 as a single designated day (always the first Saturday in June) when the LesBiGay community and friends were encouraged to "Wear Red and Be Seen" while visiting the world's most popular theme park. From it's beginnings (spearheaded by the GLBT Community Center, local activists, businesses, and the online friends and users of Compu-Who) with 3,000 attendees, this one-day park visit has evolved into a week long, citywide celebration offering round the clock activities including multiple theme park visits, cocktail soirees, concerts, and a host of internationally renowned parties. Gay Days attracts over 135,000 celebrants from across the nation and around the globe! Visit www.GayDayS.com for more information.

About Centaur Entertainment, Inc.

Centaur is a New York-based entertainment company that raises money and awareness for philanthropies that fight for and protect human rights. Centaur accomplishes this by producing quality benefit compilation CDs while preserving the rights of musicians and producers by using only licensed music. Centaur garnered a Grammy Award nomination for its Boy George song, "When Will You Learn," and produced the tremendously successful "Dance with Angels" AIDS benefit album featuring songs from Madonna, Janet Jackson, Sting, Aretha Franklin & Gloria Estefan.
